25X1	6. JGO) Talked to Bill Ashworth, Arms Control, International Law and Organization Subcommittee staff, Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who told me he did not feel it necessary to take the time of our people for a special briefing on recent Soviet missile testing. He asked if I would drop by in the next few days and just give him enough of an outline so that he can assess priorities in scheduling Committee briefings. The present schedule is so tight that he does not foresee time for briefing of the Subcommittee for at least the next couple of weeks. Daye Brandwein, FMSAC: has been advised.
